

THE WHITE HOUSE

April 11, 1990

Dear Mr. DeCunto,

I was so very touched by your eloquent letter telling of your success and struggle in the face of a learning disability. As a mother of a learning disabled son, I know what personal courage and hard work was required for you to achieve so much. Clearly, your talent and drive allowed you to succeed and you should be proud of all you have accomplished.

You are most generous to donate your work, and it is so good of you to offer to help in some way. I will be sure to keep your lovely offer in mind.

Thank you so very much.

Warmly,

Barbara Bush

Your story is a wonderful one.
